

Psychiatric Service Animals

A psychiatric service animal has been trained to perform a specific task to assist the traveling customer with their psychiatric disability. We must be notified of psychiatric service animal travel and receive the required documentation, as noted below, no later than 48 hours prior to departure.

How to book your psychiatric service animal

Please add your animal to your reservation when booking online or notify us at 1-800-JETBLUE (538-2583) of the animal's travel.

- If you are traveling with a large animal or more than one service animal your animal(s) must fit within the footprint of the seat(s) you have purchased. If your animal(s) is too large to fit in the seat(s) foot space you have purchased, you may purchase additional seat(s) to guarantee travel or wait for a flight that has sufficient empty seats available. JetBlue will make reasonable effort to accommodate the space needed.

Traveling with your psychiatric service animal

- All animals must remain on the floor, unless the animal is small enough to fit fully on the customer's lap without touching any part of the seat or adjacent customers.
- No animal is ever allowed to occupy a seat.
- Upon request, assistance will be provided by a JetBlue crewmember to and from the animal relief area. Please ask an airport crewmember for assistance.

The behavior of the animal will be assessed at the airport to ensure safety requirements are met before approving the animal for travel.

Required documentation

Customers traveling with psychiatric service animals are required to provide no less than 48 hours' notice of their intention to travel with a psychiatric service animal.

The following documentation is required and can be downloaded here.

- Medical/Mental Health Professional Form
- Veterinary Health Form
- Customer Confirmation of Animal Behavior

Additional documentation required:

- Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands require vaccination documentation for the animal to be admitted into the destination.
- International destinations have vaccination and documentation requirements. View here.
- It is the customer's responsibility to have all the required documentation regardless of the declared status of the animal.

Upon completion of the documentation, you must submit the forms for review through this link no less than 48 hours prior to departure. These documents must be submitted for each reservation you are traveling on. Documents are not kept on file.

Please note: Required documentation for psychiatric service animals must always accompany the animal when traveling and is to be presented upon request to a JetBlue Complaints Resolution Official for review.
